This photo was taken in our classroom at school. The index and middle finger of each individual's hand was placed together to form a star. Individually, the two fingers make the peace sign. It also looks like a clover leaf. It is a simple shape to make. It can be done anywhere with four individuals' hands that you'd want touching one another. This shape is so simple, but it shows our deep love for one another in our peace and togetherness rather than each of us being alone. This shape represents our deep friendship we are stars to each other. When we are together, we have lots of things to share. We care for and guide each other. The happiest times are when we are playing and having fun together like twinkling stars. Our stars guide us in life. We have good and bad experiences. For the good, a clover leaf, for example, stands for luck. Since luck is part of the Chinese culture, we want to disseminate good fortune and luck to those around us. We four friends are the best friends. We will be friends forever, in and out of school. We will take the best care and help one another in our lives right till we grow old and die.
