Title:	A New Angle on an Old Aspect
Picture:
Caption:	Closing the Gap between Body Parts creatively
Commentary:	You are probably thinking: how could such a negative “pornographic” suggestive photo even be thought suitable for submission? But what you think isn’t always what it is. When you bend your calf to touch your thigh, thereby closing the gap between these two parts of your leg with your knee in the middle, you create a very different view that resembles your buttocks – yet it isn’t your buttocks. Test this out for yourself and you will see what I mean. People are always asking how they can find something interesting or funny. I think that if we imagine and see everyday things differently, simple things seen from a different angle can become interesting and funny. You can also relax and enjoy the entertainment from your new creation.
